- 1. This class action challenges a conspiracy among Defendants to fix and suppress the compensation of their employees. Without the knowledge or consent of their employees, Defendants' senior executives entered into an interconnected web of express agreements to eliminate competition among them for skilled labor. This conspiracy included: (1) agreements not to actively recruit each other's employees; (2) agreements to provide notification when making an offer to another's employee (without the knowledge or consent of that employee); and (3) agreements that, when offering a position to another company's employee, neither company would counteroffer above the initial offer.
- 2. The intended and actual effect of these agreements was to fix and suppress employee compensation, and to impose unlawful restrictions on employee mobility. Defendants' conspiracy and agreements restrained trade and are per se unlawful under California law. Plaintiff seeks injunctive relief and damages for violations of: California's antitrust statute, Business and Professions Code sections 16720 et seq. (the "Cartwright Act"); Business and Professions Code section 16600 ("Section 16600"); and California's unfair competition law, Business and Professions Code sections 17200, et seq. (the "Unfair Competition Law").
- 3. In 2009 through 2010, the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice (the "DOJ") investigated Defendants' misconduct. The DOJ found that Defendants' agreements violated federal antitrust laws and "are facially anticompetitive because they eliminated a significant form of competition to attract high tech employees, and, overall, substantially diminished competition to the detriment of the affected employees who were likely deprived of competitively important information and access to better job opportunities." The DOJ concluded that Defendants' agreements "disrupted the normal price-setting mechanisms that apply in the labor setting."
- 4. The DOJ has confirmed that it will not seek to compensate employees who were injured by Defendants' agreements. Without this class action, Plaintiff and members of the with class members, the alleged harm, and Defendants. The number of class members in California is substantially higher than in any other state.

- 12. California Superior Court for the County of Santa Clara is also the most convenient forum for the parties and witnesses.
- 13. This Court has personal jurisdiction over each Defendant as coconspirators as a result of the acts of any of the Defendants occurring in California in connection with Defendants' violations of the Cartwright Act, Section 16600, and/or the Unfair Competition Law. No portion of this Complaint is brought pursuant to federal law.

III. CHOICE OF LAW

- 14. California law applies to the claims of Plaintiff and all Class Members.

 Application of California law is constitutional, and California has a strong interest in deterring unlawful business practices of resident corporations and compensating those harmed by activities occurring in and emanating from California.
- 15. California is the State in which Defendants negotiated, entered into, implemented, monitored, and enforced the conspiracy and associated agreements. These illicit activities were centered within, and for the most part occurred within, the County of Santa Clara.
- 16. Defendants' actively concealed their participation in the conspiracy, and actively concealed the existence of their unlawful agreements, in California. These active concealment efforts were centered within the County of Santa Clara.
- 17. California is the State in which Plaintiff's and class members' relationship with the Defendants is centered. More specifically, Santa Clara is the County in which Plaintiff's and class members' relationship with Defendants is centered. At least a majority of class members reside in California. At least 98% of class members were employed by Defendants who maintained (and continue to maintain) their principal places of business in Santa Clara.
- 18. Plaintiff and class members were injured by conduct occurring in, and emanating from, California. The overwhelming majority of the conduct causing the injuries suffered by Plaintiff and class members occurred within the County of Santa Clara.

COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES

29. Plaintiff alleges on information and belief that DOES 1-50, inclusive, were co-conspirators with other Defendants in the violations alleged in this Complaint and performed acts and made statements in furtherance thereof. DOES 1-50 are corporations, companies, partnerships, or other business entities that maintain their principal places of business in California. Plaintiff is presently unaware of the true names and identities of those defendants sued herein as DOES 1-50. Plaintiff will amend this Complaint to allege the true names of the DOE defendants when he is able to ascertain them.

30. Plaintiff alleges on information and belief that DOES 51-200, inclusive, were co-conspirators with other Defendants in the violations alleged in this Complaint and performed acts and made statements in furtherance thereof. DOES 51-200 are residents of the State of California and are corporate officers, members of the boards of directors, or senior executives of Adobe, Apple, Google, Intel, Intuit, Lucasfilm, Pixar, and DOES 1-50. Plaintiff is presently unaware of the true names and identities of those defendants sued herein as DOES 51-200. Plaintiff will amend this Complaint to allege the true names of the DOE defendants when he is able to ascertain them.

V. CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

31. This suit is brought as a class action pursuant to section 382 of the California Code of Civil Procedure, on behalf of a class of:

All natural persons employed by Defendants in the United States on a salaried basis during the period from January 1, 2005 through January 1, 2010 (the "Class Period"). Excluded from the class are: retail employees; corporate officers, members of the boards of directors, and senior executives of Defendants who entered into the illicit agreements alleged herein; and any and all judges and justices, and chambers' staff, assigned to hear or adjudicate any aspect of this litigation.

32. Plaintiff does not, as yet, know the exact size of the class. Based upon the nature of the trade and commerce involved, Plaintiff believes that there are at least tens of thousands of class members, and that class members are geographically dispersed throughout California and the United States. Joinder of all members of the class, therefore, is not practicable.

1	33. There are questions of law and fact common to the class that predominate
2	over any questions that may affect only individual members of the class, including, but not
3	limited to:
4	(a) whether the conduct of Defendants violated the Cartwright Act;
5	(b) whether Defendants' conspiracy and associated agreements, or any
6	one of them, constitute a per se violation of the Cartwright Act;
7	(c) whether Defendants' agreements are void as a matter of law under
8	Section 16600;
9	(d) whether the conduct of Defendants violated the Unfair Competition
10	Law;
11	(e) whether Defendants fraudulently concealed their conduct;
12	(f) whether Defendants' conspiracy and associated agreements
13	restrained trade, commerce, or competition for skilled labor among Defendants;
14	(g) whether, under common principles of California antitrust law,
15	Plaintiff and the class suffered antitrust injury or were threatened with injury;
16	(h) the difference between the total compensation Plaintiff and the class
17	received from Defendants, and the total compensation Plaintiff and the class would have received
18	from Defendants in the absence of the illegal acts, contracts, combinations, and conspiracy
19	alleged herein;
20	(i) the effect of the conduct of Defendants upon, and the injury caused
21	to, the business or property of the Plaintiff and the class; and
22	(j) the type and measure of damages suffered by Plaintiff and the
23	Class.
24	34. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class because
25	Plaintiff's claims are typical and representative of the claims of all members of the class.
26	35. There are no defenses of a unique nature that may be asserted against
27	Plaintiff individually, as distinguished from the other members of the class, and the relief sought
28	is common to the class. Plaintiff is typical of other members of the class, does not have any 927634.1 - 7 -

interest that is in conflict with or is antagonistic to the interests of the members of the class, and has no conflict with any other member of the class. Plaintiff has retained competent counsel experienced in antitrust litigation and class action litigation to represent himself and the class.

36. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. In the absence of a class action, Defendants will retain the benefits of their wrongful conduct.

VI. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. Trade And Commerce

- 37. In a properly functioning and lawfully competitive labor market, each Defendant would compete for employees by soliciting current employees of one or more other Defendants. Defendants refer to this recruiting method as "cold calling." Cold calling includes communicating directly in any manner (including orally, in writing, telephonically, or electronically) with another firm's employee who has not otherwise applied for a job opening.
- 38. Cold calling is a particularly effective recruiting method because current employees of other companies are often unresponsive to other recruiting strategies.
- 39. Defendants and other high technology companies classify potential employees into two categories: first, those who are currently employed by rival firms and not actively seeking to change employers; and second, those who are actively looking for employment offers (either because they are unemployed, or because they are unsatisfied with their current employer). Defendants and other high technology companies value potential employees of the first category significantly higher than potential employees of the second category, because current satisfied employees tend to be more qualified, harder working, and more stable than those who are actively looking for employment.
- 40. In addition, a company searching for a new hire is eager to save costs and avoid risks by poaching that employee from a rival company. Through poaching, a company is able to take advantage of the efforts its rival has expended in soliciting, interviewing, and training skilled labor, while simultaneously inflicting a cost on the rival by removing an employee on whom the rival may depend.

41. For these reasons and others, cold calling is a key competitive tool companies use to recruit employees, particularly high technology employees with advanced skills and abilities.

- 42. The practice of cold calling has a significant impact on employee compensation in a variety of ways. First, without receiving cold calls from rival companies, current employees lack information regarding potential pay packages and lack leverage over their employers in negotiating pay increases. When a current employee receives a cold call from a rival company with an offer that exceeds her current compensation, the current employee may either accept that offer and move from one employer to another, or use the offer to negotiate increased compensation from her current employer. In either case, the recipient of the cold call has an opportunity to use competition among potential employers to increase her compensation and mobility.
- 43. Second, once an employee receives information regarding potential compensation from rival employers through a cold call, that employee is likely to inform other employees of her current employer. These other employees often use the information themselves to negotiate pay increases or move from one employer to another, despite the fact that they themselves did not receive a cold call.
- 44. Third, cold calling a rival's employees provides information to the cold caller regarding its rival's compensation practices. Increased information and transparency regarding compensation levels tends to increase compensation across all current employees, because there is pressure to match or exceed the highest compensation package offered by rivals in order to remain competitive.
- Fourth, cold calling is a significant factor responsible for losing employees 45. to rivals. When a company expects that its employees will be cold called by rivals with employment offers, the company will preemptively increase the compensation of its employees in order to reduce the risk that its rivals will be able to poach relatively undercompensated employees.

-9-927634.1

- 46. The compensation effects of cold calling are not limited to the particular individuals who receive cold calls, or to the particular individuals who would have received cold calls but for the anticompetitive agreements alleged herein. Instead, the effects of cold calling (and the effects of eliminating cold calling, pursuant to agreement) commonly impact all salaried employees of the participating companies.
- 47. Defendants carefully monitor and manage their internal compensation levels to achieve certain goals, including: maintaining approximate compensation parity among employees within the same employment categories (for example, among junior software engineers); maintaining certain compensation relationships among employees across different employment categories (for example, among junior software engineers relative to senior software engineers); maintaining high employee morale and productivity; retaining employees; and attracting new and talented employees. To accomplish these objectives, Defendants set baseline compensation levels for different employee categories that apply to all employees within those categories. Defendants also compare baseline compensation levels across different employee categories. Defendants update baseline compensation levels regularly.
- 48. While Defendants sometimes engage in negotiations regarding compensation levels with individual employees, these negotiations occur from a starting point of the pre-existing and pre-determined baseline compensation level. The eventual compensation any particular employee receives is either entirely determined by the baseline level, or is profoundly influenced by it. In either case, suppression of baseline compensation will result in suppression of total compensation.
- 49. Thus, under competitive and lawful conditions, Defendants would use cold calling as one of their most important tools for recruiting and retaining skilled labor, and the use of cold calling among Defendants commonly impacts and increases total compensation and mobility of all Defendants' employees.

B. Defendants' Conspiracy To Fix The Compensation Of Their Employees At Artificially Low Levels

50. Defendants' conspiracy consisted of an interconnected web of express agreements, each with the active involvement and participation of a company under the control of Steven P. Jobs ("Steve Jobs") and/or a company that shared at least one member of Apple's board of directors. Defendants entered into the express agreements and entered into the overarching conspiracy with knowledge of the other Defendants' participation, and with the intent of accomplishing the conspiracy's objective: to reduce employee compensation and mobility through eliminating competition for skilled labor.

1. The Conspiracy Began With Secret and Express Agreements Between Pixar And Lucasfilm

- 51. The conspiracy began with an agreement between senior executives of Pixar and Lucasfilm to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor, with the intent and effect of suppressing the compensation and mobility of their employees.
- 52. Pixar and Lucasfilm have a shared history. In 1986, Steve Jobs purchased Lucasfilm's computer graphics division, established it as an independent company, and called it "Pixar." Thereafter and until 2006, Steve Jobs remained C.E.O. of Pixar.
- than January 2005, senior executives of Pixar and Lucasfilm entered into at least three agreements to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor. First, each agreed not to cold call each other's employees. Second, each agreed to notify the other company when making an offer to an employee of the other company, if that employee applied for a job notwithstanding the absence of cold calling. Third, each agreed that if either made an offer to such an employee of the other company, neither company would counteroffer above the initial offer. This third agreement was created with the intent and effect of eliminating "bidding wars," whereby an employee could use multiple rounds of bidding between Pixar and Lucasfilm to increase her total compensation.
- 54. Pixar and Lucasfilm reached these express agreements through direct and explicit communications among senior executives. Pixar drafted the written terms of the agreements in Emeryville, California and sent those terms to Lucasfilm. Pixar and Lucasfilm then provided the written terms to management and certain senior employees with the relevant hiring or recruiting responsibilities.

- 55. The three agreements covered all employees of the two companies, were not limited by geography, job function, product group, or time period, and were not ancillary to any legitimate collaboration between Pixar and Lucasfilm.
- Senior executives of Pixar and Lucasfilm actively concealed their unlawful 56. agreements. Employees of Pixar and Lucasfilm were not aware of, and did not agree to, the terms of the agreements between Pixar and Lucasfilm.
- After entering into the agreements, senior executives of both Pixar and 57. Lucasfilm monitored compliance and policed violations. For instance, in 2007, from its principal place of business in Emeryville, California, Pixar twice contacted Lucasfilm regarding suspected violations of their agreements. Lucasfilm responded by changing its conduct to conform to its anticompetitive agreements with Pixar. The senior executives of Pixar who monitored Lucasfilm's compliance and policed Lucasfilm's violations worked in Pixar's principal place of business in Emeryville, California.
- 58. Until no later than May of 2005, Lucasfilm employees were harmed primarily through the actions and inactions of Pixar, pursuant to Pixar's illicit agreements with Lucasfilm (agreements that were drafted in Emeryville, California). First, but for its agreements with Lucasfilm, Pixar would have cold called Lucasfilm employees from Pixar's principal place of business in Emeryville, California, where Pixar's management and senior employees with the relevant hiring or recruiting responsibilities worked. Instead, pursuant to agreement, Pixar (in Emeryville, California) directed its management and certain senior employees not to cold call Lucasfilm employees. Second, when Pixar (from Emeryville, California) made an offer to a Lucasfilm employee, Pixar (from Emeryville, California) notified Lucasfilm of the terms of the offer. Third, if Lucasfilm, upon receiving Pixar's notification, decided to match Pixar's offer to retain the employees in question, Pixar (from Emeryville, California) did not raise its offer beyond Pixar's initial bid.

- 59. Thus, until no later than May of 2005, the acts that reduced artificially the compensation of Lucasfilm employees occurred primarily in Pixar's offices in Emeryville, California. The majority of the documents evidencing these acts were created and maintained in Pixar's offices in Emeryville, California. The majority of the percipient witnesses are Pixar's management and senior recruiting personnel. The principal percipient witness, Steve Jobs, worked in Emeryville, California, and resided in the County of Santa Clara.
- 60. After no later than May of 2005, and continuing until approximately January 1, 2010, Lucafilm employees were also harmed by the conduct of the remaining Defendants, as hereafter alleged. The conduct of the remaining Defendants occurred principally in the County of Santa Clara.

2. Apple Enters Into A Similar Express Agreement With Adobe

- 61. Shortly after Pixar entered into the agreements with Lucasfilm, Apple (which was then also under the control of Steve Jobs) entered into an agreement with Adobe that was identical to the first agreement Pixar entered into with Lucasfilm. Apple and Adobe agreed to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor, with the intent and effect of suppressing the compensation and mobility of their employees.
- 62. Beginning no later than May 2005, Apple and Adobe agreed not to cold call each other's employees.
- 63. Senior executives of Apple and Adobe reached the agreement through direct and explicit communications. These executives then actively managed and enforced the agreement through further direct communications.
- 64. This explicit agreement between Apple and Adobe was negotiated, finalized, implemented, and enforced in the County of Santa Clara.
- 65. The agreement between Apple and Adobe concerned all Apple and all Adobe employees, was not limited by geography, job function, product group, or time period, and was not ancillary to any legitimate collaboration between the companies.
- 66. Senior executives of Apple and Adobe actively concealed their unlawful agreement and their participation in the conspiracy. These concealment efforts occurred principally in the County of Santa Clara. Employees of Apple and Adobe were not aware of, and did not agree to, these restrictions.

67. In complying with the agreement, Apple placed Adobe on its internal "Do Not Call List," which instructed Apple recruiters not to cold call Adobe employees. Adobe included Apple on its internal list of "Companies that are off limits," instructing its employees not to cold call employees of Apple. Both of these lists were created and maintained in the County of Santa Clara.

3. Apple Enters Into an Express Agreement with Google To Suppress Employee Compensation And Eliminate Competition

- 68. The conspiracy expanded to include Google no later than 2006. Apple and Google agreed to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor, with the intent and effect of suppressing the compensation and mobility of their employees. Senior executives of Apple and Google expressly agreed, through direct communications, not to cold call each other's employees. During 2006, Arthur D. Levinson sat on the boards of both Apple and Google.
- 69. This explicit agreement between Apple and Google was negotiated, finalized, implemented, and enforced in the County of Santa Clara.
- 70. The agreement between Apple and Google concerned all Apple and all Google employees, was not limited by geography, job function, product group, or time period, and was not ancillary to any legitimate collaboration between the companies.
- 71. Apple and Google actively concealed their agreement and their participation in the conspiracy. These concealment efforts occurred principally in the County of Santa Clara. Employees were not informed of and did not agree to the restrictions.
- 72. To ensure compliance with the agreement, Apple placed Google on its internal "Do Not Call List," which instructed Apple employees not to cold call Google employees. In turn, Google placed Apple on its internal "Do Not Cold Call" list, and instructed relevant employees not to cold call Apple employees. Both of these lists were created and maintained in the County of Santa Clara.

927634.1 - 14 -

73. Senior executives of Apple and Google monitored compliance with the agreement and policed violations. In February and March 2007, Apple contacted Google to complain about suspected violations of the agreement. In response, Google conducted an internal investigation and reported its findings back to Apple. These enforcement activities occurred in the County of Santa Clara.

4. Apple Enters Into Another Express Agreement with Pixar

- 74. Beginning no later than April 2007, Apple entered into an agreement with Pixar that was identical to its earlier agreements with Adobe and Google. Apple and Pixar agreed to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor, with the intent and effect of suppressing the compensation and mobility of their employees. Senior executives of Apple and Pixar expressly agreed, through direct communications, not to cold call each other's employees.
- 75. This explicit agreement between Apple and Pixar was negotiated, finalized, implemented, and enforced in the County of Santa Clara and the County of Alameda.
- 76. At this time, Steve Jobs continued to exert substantial control over Pixar. On January 24, 2006, Jobs announced that he had agreed to sell Pixar to the Walt Disney Company. After the deal closed, Jobs became the single largest shareholder of the Walt Disney Company, with over 6% of the company's stock. Jobs thereafter sat on Disney's board of directors and continued to oversee Disney's animation businesses, including Pixar.
- 77. The agreement between Apple and Pixar concerned all Apple and all Pixar employees, was not limited by geography, job function, product group, or time period, and was not ancillary to any legitimate collaboration between the companies.
- 78. Apple and Pixar actively concealed their agreement and their participation in the conspiracy. Employees were not informed of and did not agree to the restrictions.
- 79. To ensure compliance with the agreement, Apple placed Pixar on its internal "Do Not Call List," which instructed Apple employees not to cold call Pixar employees. Apple created and maintained this list in the County of Santa Clara. Pixar instructed its human resource personnel to adhere to the agreement and to preserve documentary evidence establishing that Pixar had not actively recruited Apple employees.

1	80. Senior executives of Apple and Pixar monitored compliance with the
2	agreement and policed violations.
3	5. Steve Jobs Attempts To Expand the Conspiracy to Include Palm Inc.
4	81. In approximately August 2007, Steve Jobs contacted the C.E.O. of Palm
5	Inc. ("Palm"), Edward T. Colligan ("Ed Colligan"), to propose that Apple and Palm agree to
6	refrain from hiring each other's employees.
7	82. In the several months preceding August 2007, Apple and Palm cold called
8	each other's employees and otherwise competed for each other's skilled labor. Apple hired
9	approximately 2% of Palm's workforce, and Palm hired a valuable and highly talented Apple
10	executive, Jon Rubinstein, among other Apple employees. This lawful competition led to
11	increased compensation for employees of the companies and increased labor mobility and choice.
12	83. Steve Jobs sought to end competition between Palm and Apple for skilled
13	labor. Steve Jobs communicated directly with Ed Colligan, stating that "We must do whatever
14	we can" to stop cold calling and other competitive recruiting efforts between the companies.
15	Steve Jobs attempted to intimidate Palm into agreeing to the proposal by threatening litigation,
16	and stating that Apple had patents and more money than Palm.
17	84. Ed Colligan rebuffed Steve Jobs' efforts, telling him: "Your proposal that
18	we agree that neither company will hire the other's employees, regardless of the individual's
19	desires, is not only wrong, it is likely illegal."
20	85. Approximately all of the relevant events and communications regarding
21	Steve Jobs' illicit offer to Palm, and Ed Colligan's refusal, occurred within the County of Santa
22	Clara.
23	6. Google Enters Into An Express Agreement With Intel
24	86. In 2007, Google C.E.O. Eric Schmidt sat on Apple's board of directors,
25	along with Arthur D. Levinson, who continued to sit on the boards of both Apple and Google.
26	87. Beginning no later than September 2007, Google entered into an agreement
27	with Intel that was identical to Google's earlier agreement with Apple, and identical to Apple's

Employees were not informed of and did not agree to the restrictions.
- 90. To ensure compliance with the agreement, Google listed Intel on its "Do Not Cold Call" list and instructed Google employees not to cold call Intel employees. Intel also informed its relevant personnel about its agreement with Google, and instructed them not to cold call Google employees. Google's "Do Not Cold Call" list was created and maintained in the County of Santa Clara.
- 91. Senior executives of Google and Intel monitored compliance with the agreement and policed violations. These enforcement activities occurred in the County of Santa Clara.

7. Google and Intuit Enter Into Another Express Agreement

- 92. In June 2007, Google entered into an express agreement with Intuit that was identical to Google's earlier agreements with Intel and Apple, and identical to the earlier agreements between Apple and Adobe, and between Apple and Pixar. Google CEO Eric Schmidt sat on Apple's board of directors, along with Arthur D. Levinson, who continued to sit on the boards of both Apple and Google.
- 93. Google and Intuit agreed to eliminate competition between them for skilled labor, with the intent and effect of suppressing the compensation and mobility of their employees. Senior executives of Google and Intuit expressly agreed, through direct communications, not to

C. Effects Of Defendants' Conspiracy On Plaintiff And The Class

97. Defendants eliminated competition for skilled labor by entering into the interconnected web of agreements, and the overarching conspiracy, alleged herein. These agreements are summarized graphically as follows:

Defendants entered into, implemented, and policed these agreements with the knowledge of the overall conspiracy, and did so with the intent and effect of fixing the compensation of the employees of participating companies at artificially low levels. For example, every agreement alleged herein directly involved a company either controlled by Steve Jobs, or a company that shared a member of its board of directors with Apple. As additional companies joined the conspiracy, competition among participating companies for skilled labor further decreased, and compensation and mobility of the employees of participating companies was further suppressed. These anticompetitive effects were the purpose of the agreements, and Defendants succeeded in lowering the compensation and mobility of their employees below what would have prevailed in a lawful and properly functioning labor market.

98. Defendants' conspiracy was an ideal tool to suppress their employees' compensation. Whereas agreements to fix specific and individual compensation packages would be hopelessly complex and impossible to monitor, implement, and police, eliminating entire categories of competition for skilled labor (that affected the compensation and mobility of all employees in a common and predictable fashion) was simple to implement and easy to enforce.

99. Plaintiff and each member of the class were harmed by each and every agreement herein alleged. The elimination of competition and suppression of compensation and mobility had a cumulative effect on all class members. For example, an individual who was an employee of Lucasfilm received lower compensation and faced unlawful obstacles to mobility as a result of not only the illicit agreements with Pixar, but also as a result of Pixar's agreement with Apple, and so on.

D. The Investigation By The Antitrust Division Of The United States Department Of Justice And Subsequent Admissions By Defendants

100. Beginning in approximately 2009, the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice (the "DOJ") conducted an investigation into the employment practices of Defendants. The DOJ issued Civil Investigative Demands to Defendants that resulted in Defendants producing responsive documents to the DOJ. The DOJ also interviewed witnesses to certain of the agreements alleged herein.

101. After reviewing these materials, the DOJ concluded that Defendants had agreed to naked restraints of trade that were per se unlawful under the antitrust laws. The DOJ found that Defendants' agreements "are facially anticompetitive because they eliminated a significant form of competition to attract high tech employees, and, overall, substantially diminished competition to the detriment of the affected employees who were likely deprived of competitively important information and access to better job opportunities." The DOJ further found that the agreements "disrupted the normal price-setting mechanisms that apply in the labor setting."

- 102. The DOJ also concluded that Defendants' agreements "were not ancillary to any legitimate collaboration" and were "much broader than reasonably necessary for the formation or implementation of any collaborative effort."
- 103. On September 24, 2010, the DOJ filed a complaint regarding Defendants' agreements against Adobe, Apple, Google, Intel, Intuit, and Pixar. On December 21, 2010, the DOJ filed another complaint regarding Defendants' agreements, this time against Lucasfilm and Pixar. In both cases, the DOJ filed stipulated proposed final judgments in which Adobe, Apple, Google, Intel, Intuit, Lucasfilm, and Pixar agreed that the DOJ's complaints "state[] a claim upon which relief may be granted" under federal antitrust law.
- Intuit, Lucasfilm, and Pixar agreed to be "enjoined from attempting to enter into, maintaining or enforcing any agreement with any other person or in any way refrain from, requesting that any person in any way refrain from, or pressuring any person in any way to refrain from soliciting, cold calling, recruiting, or otherwise competing for employees of the other person." Defendants also agreed to a variety of enforcement measures and to comply with ongoing inspection procedures. The United States District for the District of Columbia entered the stipulated proposed final judgments on March 17, 2011 and June 3, 2011.
- Defendants acknowledged participating in the agreements the DOJ alleged in its complaints.

 These acknowledgments included a statement on September 24, 2010 by Amy Lambert, associate general counsel for Google, who stated that, for years, Google had "decided" not to "cold call' employees at a few of our partner companies." Lambert also said that a "number of other tech companies had similar 'no cold call' policies—policies which the U.S. Justice Department has been investigating for the past year."
- 106. The DOJ did not seek monetary penalties of any kind against Defendants, and made no effort to compensate employees of the Defendants who were harmed by Defendants' anticompetitive conduct.

1	107. Without this class action, Plaintiff and the class will be unable to obtain
2	compensation for the harm they suffered, and Defendants will retain the benefits of their unlawful

6	108. Plaintiff, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated, realleges

8	of this Complaint, and further allege against Defendants and each of them as follows:
9	109. Defendants entered into and engaged in an unlawful trust in restraint of the
10	trade and commerce described above in violation of California Business and Professions Code
11	section 16720. Beginning no later than January 2005 and continuing at least through 2009,
12	Defendants engaged in continuing trusts in restraint of trade and commerce in violation of the

14	110. Defendants' trusts have included concerted action and undertakings among
15	the Defendants with the purpose and effect of: (a) fixing the compensation of Plaintiff and the
16	Class at artificially low levels; and (b) eliminating, to a substantial degree, competition among
17	Defendants for skilled labor.
18	111. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' combinations and contracts

1	trust, and, as a result, have been injured in their property and have suffered damages in an amount
2	according to proof at trial.
3	113. Plaintiff and members of the Class are "persons" within the meaning of the
4	Cartwright Act as defined in section 16702.
5	114. The acts done by each Defendant as part of, and in furtherance of, their
6	contracts, combinations or conspiracies were authorized, ordered, or done by their respective
7	officers, directors, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the
8	management of each Defendant's affairs.
9	115. Defendants' contracts, combinations and/or conspiracies are per se
10	violations of the Cartwright Act.
11	116. Accordingly, Plaintiff and members of the class seek three times their
12	damages caused by Defendants' violations of the Cartwright Act, the costs of bringing suit,
13	reasonable attorneys' fees, and a permanent injunction enjoining Defendants' from ever again
14	entering into similar agreements in violation of the Cartwright Act.
15	SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF (Violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 16600)
16	(violation of Cal. Bus. & Froj. Code & 10000)
17	117. Plaintiff, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated, realleges
18	and incorporates herein by reference each of the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs
19	of this Complaint, and further allege against Defendants and each of them as follows:
20	118. Defendants entered into, implemented, and enforced express agreements
21	that are unlawful and void under Section 16600.
22	119. Defendants' agreements and conspiracy have included concerted action
23	and undertakings among the Defendants with the purpose and effect of: (a) reducing open
24	competition among Defendants for skilled labor; (b) reducing employee mobility; (c) eliminating
25	opportunities for employees to pursue lawful employment of their choice; and (d) limiting and unlawful, unfair, and fraudulent business acts and practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code section 17200.

- 128. Defendants also violated California's Unfair Competition Law by violating the Cartwright Act and/or by violating Section 16600.
- 129. As a result of Defendants' violations of Business and Professions Code section 17200, Defendants have unjustly enriched themselves at the expense of Plaintiff and the Class. The unjust enrichment continues to accrue as the unlawful, unfair, and fraudulent business acts and practices continue.
- 130. To prevent their unjust enrichment, Defendants and their co-conspirators should be required pursuant to Business and Professions Code sections 17203 and 17204 to disgorge their illegal gains for the purpose of making full restitution to all injured class members identified hereinabove. Defendants should also be permanently enjoined from continuing their violations of Business and Professions Code section 17200.
- 131. The acts and business practices, as alleged herein, constituted and constitute a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code section 17200, et seq., including, but in no way limited to, violations of the Cartwright Act and/or Section 16600.
- 132. Defendants' acts and business practices as described above, whether or not in violation of the Cartwright Act and/or Section 16600 are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful, and fraudulent.
- 133. Accordingly, Plaintiff, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated, requests the following classwide equitable relief:
- (a) that a judicial determination and declaration be made of the rights of Plaintiff and the class members, and the corresponding responsibilities of Defendants;
- (b) that Defendants be declared to be financially responsible for the costs and expenses of a Court-approved notice program by mail, broadcast media, and publication designed to give immediate notification to class members; and
